

Friday Schedule

TINY HOUSE ESSENTIAL SERIES

9:30am - 10:30am

Beyond the build, transport, sites and everything in between – Angus Hamilton

You've dreamed it, designed it, and maybe even started building it. But what if your tiny house turns out too heavy, too tall, or too wide to actually move? Angus has seen the transport nightmares, trailers not fit for purpose, homes wedged into impossible sites, budgets blown on avoidable mistakes. He'll show you how to dodge those traps, budget smart, prep your site, and work backwards from moving day so your dream tiny doesn't turn into an immovable nightmare.

10:30am - 11:00am

The New Zealand Tiny House Awards

Join us as we announce the winners for the 2025 Tiny House Awards!

11:00am - 12:00pm

The starting point - What to know before you go Tiny - Rebecca McLean

Thinking of going tiny? Lovely idea. But before you haul half your belongings to the op shop and start doodling floorplans on café napkins... pause. Rebecca from Tiny House Mastery will talk you through the realities: the downsizing, the choices between wheels, cabins, or granny flats, and the things most people only learn the hard way.

12:30pm - 1:30pm

Tiny Houses, Granny Flats & Council Rules: What's Changing (and what's not) – Rebecca McLean

Tiny houses and council rules, the romance ends here. Rebecca from Tiny House Mastery will cut through the myths, the jargon, and the "my cousin's neighbour said you don't need consent if it's on wheels" nonsense. She'll explain zoning, consents, and what those new granny flat reforms might actually mean for you. Bring your questions, bring your confusion—this is where you'll finally get some straight answers.

1:30pm - 2:30pm

How to future-proof your Tiny Home for every stage of life - Ziski Pöschl

It's one thing designing a tiny home for right now. But what about when life barges in with a partner, a baby, a toddler, and a dog that thinks it owns the sofa? Ziski will share how her family's tiny house has had to bend, stretch and adapt, what's worked, what hasn't, and the surprising ways a small space can still make room for a very big life.

2:30pm - 3:30pm

From paddocks to villages. How to find the best home for your Tiny House - Ryan Steven

It's all very well buying a tiny house, but then comes the big question where on earth do you put it? Ryan will talk you through the art of finding land for your tiny home, what to look for, what to avoid, and the sneaky red flags no one mentions until it's too late. He'll also share the realities of living in a communal tiny house village, the upsides, the downsides, and whether it's actually for you.

Saturday Schedule

TINY HOUSE ESSENTIAL SERIES

9:30am - 10:30am

Tiny Houses, Granny Flats & Council Rules: What's Changing (and what's not) – Rebecca McLean

Tiny houses and council rules, the romance ends here. Rebecca from Tiny House Mastery will cut through the myths, the jargon, and the “my cousin’s neighbour said you don’t need consent if it’s on wheels” nonsense. She’ll explain zoning, consents, and what those new granny flat reforms might actually mean for you. Bring your questions, bring your confusion—this is where you’ll finally get some straight answers.

10:30am - 11:30am

Beyond the build, transport, sites and everything in between – Angus Hamilton

You’ve dreamed it, designed it, and maybe even started building it. But what if your tiny house turns out too heavy, too tall, or too wide to actually move? Angus has seen the transport nightmares, trailers not fit for purpose, homes wedged into impossible sites, budgets blown on avoidable mistakes. He’ll show you how to dodge those traps, budget smart, prep your site, and work backwards from moving day so your dream tiny doesn’t turn into an immovable nightmare.

11:30am - 12:30pm

The starting point - What to know before you go Tiny - Rebecca McLean

Thinking of going tiny? Lovely idea. But before you haul half your belongings to the op shop and start doodling floorplans on café napkins... pause. Rebecca from Tiny House Mastery will talk you through the realities: the downsizing, the choices between wheels, cabins, or granny flats, and the things most people only learn the hard way.

12:30pm - 1:30pm

How to future-proof your Tiny Home for every stage of life - Ziski Pöschl

It’s one thing designing a tiny home for right now. But what about when life barges in with a partner, a baby, a toddler, and a dog that thinks it owns the sofa? Ziski will share how her family’s tiny house has had to bend, stretch and adapt, what’s worked, what hasn’t, and the surprising ways a small space can still make room for a very big life.

1:30pm - 2:30pm

Tiny Houses, Granny Flats & Council Rules: What's Changing (and what's not) – Rebecca McLean

Tiny houses and council rules, the romance ends here. Rebecca from Tiny House Mastery will cut through the myths, the jargon, and the “my cousin’s neighbour said you don’t need consent if it’s on wheels” nonsense. She’ll explain zoning, consents, and what those new granny flat reforms might actually mean for you. Bring your questions, bring your confusion—this is where you’ll finally get some straight answers.

2:30pm - 3:30pm

From paddocks to villages. How to find the best home for your Tiny House - Ryan Steven

It’s all very well buying a tiny house, but then comes the big question where on earth do you put it? Ryan will talk you through the art of finding land for your tiny home, what to look for, what to avoid, and the sneaky red flags no one mentions until it’s too late. He’ll also share the realities of living in a communal tiny house village, the upsides, the downsides, and whether it’s actually for you.

Sunday Schedule

TINY HOUSE ESSENTIAL SERIES

10:30am - 11:30am

Beyond the build, transport, sites and everything in between – Angus Hamilton

You've dreamed it, designed it, and maybe even started building it. But what if your tiny house turns out too heavy, too tall, or too wide to actually move? Angus has seen the transport nightmares, trailers not fit for purpose, homes wedged into impossible sites, budgets blown on avoidable mistakes. He'll show you how to dodge those traps, budget smart, prep your site, and work backwards from moving day so your dream tiny doesn't turn into an immovable nightmare.

11:30am - 12:30pm

The starting point - What to know before you go Tiny - Rebecca McLean

Thinking of going tiny? Lovely idea. But before you haul half your belongings to the op shop and start doodling floorplans on café napkins... pause. Rebecca from Tiny House Mastery will talk you through the realities: the downsizing, the choices between wheels, cabins, or granny flats, and the things most people only learn the hard way.

12:30pm - 1:30pm

How to future-proof your Tiny Home for every stage of life - Ziski Pöschl

It's one thing designing a tiny home for right now. But what about when life barges in with a partner, a baby, a toddler, and a dog that thinks it owns the sofa? Ziski will share how her family's tiny house has had to bend, stretch and adapt, what's worked, what hasn't, and the surprising ways a small space can still make room for a very big life.

1:30pm - 2:30pm

Tiny Houses, Granny Flats & Council Rules: What's Changing (and what's not) – Rebecca McLean

Tiny houses and council rules, the romance ends here. Rebecca from Tiny House Mastery will cut through the myths, the jargon, and the "my cousin's neighbour said you don't need consent if it's on wheels" nonsense. She'll explain zoning, consents, and what those new granny flat reforms might actually mean for you. Bring your questions, bring your confusion—this is where you'll finally get some straight answers.

2:30pm - 3:30pm

From paddocks to villages. How to find the best home for your Tiny House - Ryan Steven

It's all very well buying a tiny house, but then comes the big question where on earth do you put it? Ryan will talk you through the art of finding land for your tiny home, what to look for, what to avoid, and the sneaky red flags no one mentions until it's too late. He'll also share the realities of living in a communal tiny house village, the upsides, the downsides, and whether it's actually for you.